

Call to Action

Not happy with the Superior Region Supervisor position going unfilled for almost two years and opposed to reducing the number of regions in California to five? Please reach out to your local representative, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Career Technical Education leadership at California Department of Education and voice your concern.

Below are a sample e-mail for both legislators and the California Department of Education.

Subject Line; Agricultural Education Consultant Position

Assembly Member / Senator (your representative's name)

I am a resident of (your town's name), voters in your district and associated with (your FFA chapter's name). I am concerned with the effects on FFA students and our local Agricultural Education programs if the vacant Agricultural Education Consultant Position is not filled by California Department of Education (CDE). While we understand past concerns about CDE's budget, the 2018-2019 increased funding for Career Technical Education at both the state and national level ends those fears.

If this position remains unfilled agricultural student and programs across the state will be adversely impacted resulting in the loss of opportunities for FFA members in our area.

I encourage you to reach out to Tom Adams at CDE and convey to him the importance of hiring for the Agricultural Education Consultant Position and its impact for all FFA members in your district.

Sincerely,

John and Jane Doe

Dr. Torlakson / Dr. Adams / Mrs. Wyatt

We are concerned with the effects on FFA students and our local Agricultural Education programs if the vacant Agricultural Education Consultant Position is not filled by California Department of Education (CDE). While we understand past concerns about CDE's budget, the 2018-2019 increased funding for Career Technical Education at both the state and national level ends those fears.

We know that you visited the California State FFA convention this year and saw the impact that these consultants have on FFA students across California.

If this position continues to go unfilled more FFA students continue to miss out on opportunities in leadership conferences and Career Development Events. Additionally this position provides support, resources and mentorship to all Agricultural Teachers in California.

It is imperative that this position get gets filled.

Sincerely,

John and Jane Doe
